THE CONFERENCE AT NEW BEDFORD.

The Friends' Sabbath School Conference, of which we have given quite a full report from the New Bedford Standard, held its closing session on Friday morning and continued the discussion of the Mission work. Remarks were made not only by the members of the Conference, but also by several persons of other denominations. From the report of the proceedings it appears to have been a meeting of great interest and success. The Standard thinks it the most successful meeting of the kind ever held in the country, and says:

We apprehend that the public was not prepared to find so much life, zeal, earnestness and thoroughness among the members of the Society of Friends. They were taken by surprise. But when they found there was a real, live meeting going on, the large attendance and the close attention manifested through all the sessions gave sufficient evidence of the deep interest which has been aroused. The speaking throughout was animated and earnest, showing that those who were engaged in the work were fully impressed with its importance.

We should not forget to allude in this connection to the cordiality with which those not connected with the Society of Friends were welcomed to the conference, and of the excellent remarks of Mr. Messrs. Coe, Humphries, Bates, Palmer and Batchelor, Mr. Dennison, city missionary, and Judge Russell, of Boston, as showing on all sides the entire absence of a breath of ill-will, and an earnest desire to cooperate in the great work in which all under whatever name, are alike interested. But there can be no doubt that the success of the conference was largely due to the women speakers. No one could listen to the earnest, affectionate and often poetic remarks of Elizabeth Cookmoor or Rachel Howard, or to the teachings of Sarah Smith, Ruth Murray, and Caroline Ladd, without feeling that in one department at least woman is the superior of man, and that the religious education of the young is especially her province.

The Meteoric Shower.
This phenomenon was observed at various places on the morning of the 14th. Mr. D. W. Stevens publishes in the Fall River News the result of his observations at that place. The Superintendent of the Observatory at Washington says the display was the most brilliant seen in this country since 1833. Very few were seen until one o'clock. One hundred and twenty-five meteor tracks were marked down before 6:30 A. M., when the meteors flew so thick that identification became hopeless, and simple counting was resorted to. One thousand were counted in twenty-one minutes previous to 4:35 A. M. Many were remarkable for their brilliancy, and for a brilliant train, which usually consisted in a few seconds; but in one or two cases lasted several minutes. The most brilliant and thickest display came from the direction of Leo, which is about sixty degrees above the horizon, and some from Canis Minor and from Coma Berenice. The course of the meteors was principally North and East, though there were scattering ones from other directions.

At the Dudley Observatory, Albany, it is stated that the greatest number fell at 4:31 A. M., when 17 were counted in a single minute. During the maximum of frequency sometimes six or eight would burst out simultaneously, making one of the grandest sights we have ever witnessed. The total number counted up to 6 A. M., was 1301. One of the most curious phenomena, however, was the continuance of the shower after the meteor itself had disappeared. Although the number recognized was not so great, yet the maximum of the frequency was nearly equal to the shower observed in England in November last.

Reports of a similar event are given from places at the South, and at New Haven, Professor Loomis says he counted 300 meteors alone in one hour, which would indicate about 2000 per hour for the entire heavens, and that, too, in the presence of a full moon, which probably eclipsed two thirds of the whole number. So far as the numbers are concerned, the exhibition was, therefore, more remarkable than that seen in Europe last November, and was but little inferior to that seen in the United States in 1833.

It is stated in connection with the mission of Mr. Thornton's name as English Minister to Washington that his appointment has been urged by Lord Stanley, notwithstanding the opposition of the London Times, because the English Government is anxious to have a representative at Washington who is well acquainted with South American and West Indian affairs, the present tendency of the American Government to absorb one territory after another being very unpalatable to Great Britain, who, it is believed, fears to be wedged in by the United States in one part, while she is crowded by Russia in another part of the globe. The cession of the West Indies possessions of Denmark to the United States is said to excite some dissatisfaction in the English Foreign Office.

A CHANGE IN RELATIONS.—The London Review says that the Emperor Napoleon III., in his youthful days, fought against the temporal power of the Pope, which he is now doing his utmost to maintain. He and his brother were actively concerned in the revolutionary movement of 1831—a movement which might perhaps have succeeded but for the intervention of France and Austria. Little probably did Louis Napoleon at that time think that he should himself send a French army to Rome to put down similar movements. The elder brother shortly after died at Fieschi, of fatigue and anxiety; and the story goes that Louis swore to him on his death-bed that he would one day destroy the Papal power.

THE CONFERENCE AT NEW BEDFORD.

A Washington dispatch says: It is understood Gen. Belknap, after his interview with the President, has decided to accept all persons making incendiary speeches in his district.

The President will recommend in his message some sweeping changes and reforms in the management of the Internal Revenue department.

Hon. Wm. A. Darling, who is in Washington, says he will not accept the nomination for Mayor of New York, unless he can receive the solid support of the Republicans, with which he thinks he can beat either Hoffman or Wood.

This (about the St. Thomas affair) the Secretary of the Danish Government seven millions of dollars for the islands of St. Thomas and St. John, provided a majority of the inhabitants consented to the transfer.

Secretary McCook has sent Thomas McCook, as special agent to investigate alleged stupendous revenue frauds in New York.

Secretary Welles is recovering from his illness and expects to be out in a few days.

The Treasury Department has recently taken favorable action on the suspended war claims of the loyal States for arms, uniforms, etc., purchased in the commencement of the war under general authority to raise and equip men. In most cases the vouchers required by the red tape routine were not taken, and it has been necessary to procure these in order to obtain payment of the claims.

The Massachusetts Treasury will gain a handsome sum by the payment of many of her claims which had been suspended.

It is understood that the forthcoming report on the subject of taxation, revenue, etc., will advocate the abolition of the cotton tax and a reduction of duties on imported cotton and woolen fabrics.

A special Washington dispatch says Gen. Hancock arrived at New Orleans yesterday, and will forthwith assume command.

Charles Sumner, who is in Washington, says he is much better in health than is reported, and proposed yesterday to visit the Capitol on foot, but was dissuaded until he had more rest.

It is learned from Richmond that Chief Justice Chase is in favor of such modification of the Radical programme as will preclude negroes from holding office, but demands universal suffrage.

Governor Pierpont of Virginia has declared that he is not a candidate for reelection.

Within a day or two, the road, well graded, will be opened, and the traffic will be increased. It is estimated that a point in the Great Salt Lake Valley, whence former pioneers will be free to depart, from Salt Lake and Ogden, will be ready to leave by 3,000 loads of road material, and 10,000 men are employed in the construction. The local business upon the completed portion purchased for the purpose of the road, during the quarter ending August 31 are as follows in table:

Peerslee Cooking Stove.
 Here what the Boston Journal says of this stove:

Among the peculiar merits claimed for this stove is the complete ventilation and even temperature of the room, which is effected by a hasting roller than a baffling oven, which prevents a peculiarly constructed fire chamber, which heats the air as it passes down behind the grate and into the oven, causing the oven to bake or roast perfectly, and the cold draft from the fire going carefully through the perfect control which can be kept over the fire, and its cleanliness. This stove works equally well with coal or wood. There are stores of different sizes, and are made plain or with an extension top, the latter being made with a large range for heating the room, and a warming closet underneath. Three of our orders who would like to keep up with the times would be well to call and examine this "Peerless Stove." Sole Agent, The Export, 110 W. 8th St.
